I. SUMMARY

Element B. 4b (Description of any known trends affecting the Issuer and the industries in which it operates) of the Summary on page 8 of the Base Prospectus, is modified in order to add a square bracket at the end of the paragraph relating to Société Générale and before the paragraph relating to SG Issuer and SG Option Europe as follows:

B.4b	Description of any known trends affecting the Issuer and the industries in which it operates	[If the Issuer is Société Générale: In 2016, the global economy should suffer from high uncertainty, related in particular to the geopolitical environment (Brexit, European migrant crisis, instability in the Middle East) and to elections in key countries. At the same time, the volatility of commodity and capital markets should remain significant, given the slowdown in emerging economies and strong divergences in monetary policies. In the Eurozone, the quantitative easing and negative interest rate policy implemented by the ECB should keep market interest rates low in 2016, against a backdrop of consistently low inflation. In the United States, the pace of the FED's tightening monetary policy will depend on economic growth momentum. In emerging countries, the moderate growth rate was confirmed in 2015. Although this trend was contained in China, business activity in countries producing commodities saw a more significant decrease. Within this contrasted environment, banks will have to continue to strengthen their capital to meet new regulatory requirements, further to the Basel reforms. In particular, following the various transparency exercises implemented in 2015 and the publication of the minimum Pillar 2 requirements, banks will have to comply with new current liability ratios (MREL and TLAC). Other reforms are still pending, as the banking regulator is reviewing the trading portfolio and risk-weighting models. Global economic growth is likely to remain fragile. Firstly, emerging economies have seen their growth stabilise, but at a low

		level. Secondly, growth in developed countries, which was already sluggish, is likely to be negatively impacted by the uncertainty shock due to Brexit (following the referendum on 23 June 2016, when a majority of British citizens voted for the United Kingdom to leave the European Union). In addition, numerous negative uncertainties continue to adversely affect the outlook: risk of renewed financial tensions in Europe, risk of further turmoil (financial and socio-political) in emerging economies, uncertainty caused by the unconventional monetary policies implemented by the main developed countries, increased terrorist risk and geopolitical tensions. More specifically, the Group could be affected by: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> - renewed financial tensions in the Eurozone resulting from increased doubts about the integrity of the region, following Brexit or institutional or political deadlock in some Eurozone countries; - a sudden and marked rise in interest rates and volatility in the markets (bonds, equities and commodities), which could be triggered by poor communication from central banks, in particular the US Federal Reserve (Fed), when changing monetary policy stance; - a sharp slowdown in economic activity in China, triggering capital flight from the country, downward pressure on the Chinese currency and, by contagion, on other emerging country currencies, as well as a fall in commodity prices; - socio-political tensions in some countries dependent on oil and gas revenues and still needing to adapt to the situation of low prices for these commodities; - a downward correction on commercial property and house prices in France; - worsening geopolitical tensions in the Middle East, South China Sea or Ukraine. This could lead to the extension and stepping up of sanctions between Western countries and Russia, even more depressed economic activity in Russia, and a further sharp depreciation in the rouble.] [If the Issuer is SG Issuer or SG Option Europe: The Issuer expects to continue its activity in accordance with its corporate objects over the course of 2016].
